

How to make this board

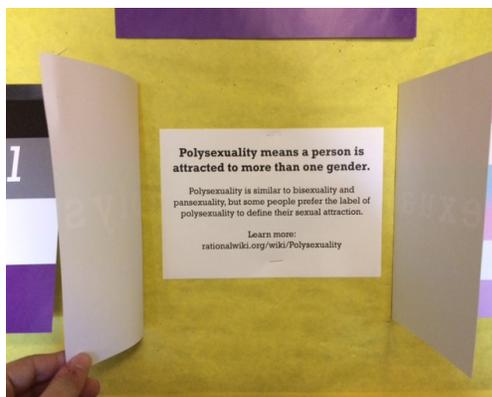

(Don't include this page on your board... please)

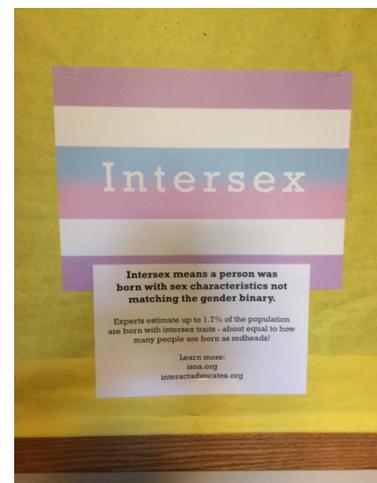

Display the flags and their descriptions any way you please! Here are some suggestions:

Display the description underneath the flag so residents need to lift each flag to learn more.

Cut each flag in half, then display the descriptions underneath so residents need to open the flag to learn more.

For boards that don't allow interactivity, post the description next to or slightly on top of each flag.

If you have a smaller bulletin board and need to eliminate a few flags, the polysexual and genderqueer flags tend to be less commonly used, so are probably the best to cut due to size constraints. For more information about this board, contact lgbt@ithaca.edu.

Board designed by Residence Director Samantha Guter, 2017.

What colors

do you fly?

P a n s e x u a l

B i s e x u a l

Bisexuality means a person is attracted to two or more genders.

More than half of the LGBTQ+ community identifies as bi, but only 28% of bisexuals say all the most important people in their life know their sexual identity!

Learn more:
Biresource.org
Bisexual.org

Pansexuality means a person is attracted to all genders.

Pansexuality is not the same thing as bisexuality, but there can be overlap. Less than 1% of the population identifies as pansexual, including the comic book hero Deadpool!

Learn more:
stop-homophobia.com/pansexuality.htm

Assessing the Journal

Intersax

Asexuality means a person is not sexually attracted to others.

About 1% of the population is asexual, according to most recent studies. Asexuality is an identity, not a choice - and asexuals can still have romantic feelings and sexual partners!

Learn more:

Asexuality.org

scarleteen.com/tags/asexual

Intersex means a person was born with sex characteristics not matching the gender binary.

Experts estimate up to 1.7% of the population are born with intersex traits - about equal to how many people are born as redheads!

Learn more:

isna.org

interactadvocates.org

Transgender

Genderquerer

Transgender means a person's gender identity does not match their sex assigned at birth.

It is estimated that there are 1.4 million people in the United States who identify as transgender!

However, only 18 states have clear laws prohibiting discrimination against transgender individuals.

Learn more:
transstudent.org
transequality.org

Genderqueer means a person who does not identify with the gender binary.

It is estimated that about 25-35% of people in the transgender community identify on the non-binary or genderqueer spectrum.

Learn more:
genderqueerid.com
genderfork.com

G e n d e r f l u i d

Policysexual

Genderfluid means a person whose gender identity fluctuates over time.

A genderfluid person could identify as male, female, non-binary or any combination or lack of gender identities at any given time, and it may change from day to day or even hour to hour.

Learn more:

gender.wikia.com/wiki/Gender_Fluid
genderdiversity.org/resources/terminology/

Polysexuality means a person is attracted to more than one gender.

Polysexuality is similar to bisexuality and pansexuality, but some people prefer the label of polysexuality to define their sexual attraction.

Learn more:

rationalwiki.org/wiki/Polysexuality