A Year of Readjusting, New Team Members, & Visioning

By Dave Curry, Director

What a year! The 2021-2022 school year brought back in-person learning and on-campus activities for the first time in nearly 18 months, and while many of our regular programs still couldn’t happen, we hosted several fairs, workshops and employer engagement opportunities and even achieved record numbers in employers recruiting our students. More importantly, we started to re-envision how our services could not only exist but thrive in this era of new normal.

As we build up our staff and our Peer Career Advisor team, we are doing so by prioritizing our students’ needs and the means with which we can help them. Because of this, we continued to leverage virtual technology, while also spanning out across campus in order to be more present and available for students, many of whom never knew where our office was or what we can do to help them.

As we plan for 2022-2023, we are committed to creating more opportunities to help our students and alumni, and to prioritize students that have not yet engaged with us, by building our presence and growing their trust. I am overcome with excitement about all that the coming year has in store, so stay tuned for some big changes and innovative enhancements to Career Services at IC!

“Mel was amazing. I will definitely come back to her for additional help.”
Our Story Through Data

As campus returned to our first full in-person academic year we saw our engagement numbers decrease. Two factors account for this. First, with the pandemic an on-going concern, Career Services opted not to hold large programs such as in-person Career Fairs, which contribute to these numbers.

Second, we and other areas on campus, noticed a reluctance on the part of students to engage at pre-pandemic levels. In 2022-23 we will work to shift this trend by focusing on in-school engagement initiatives.

On the left, you’ll see a breakdown of engagement broken down by academic school. Since the percentage of schools are varied in size, below is the percentage of students and alumni we saw based on the Fall 2021 enrollment of each school.

It was surprisingly easy and quick. My advisor was very helpful and knowledgeable about what I was specifically looking for.
In 21-22 we saw an increase in the number of career check-ins, which reverses a 4-year downward trend. Check-ins create scalability of services and enable us to triage higher level needs to our professional staff.

Anna is an AMAZING PCA....she helped me so much and talking through my resume and cover letter outline helped me sort it out in my head so much!
Equity & Access

Career Services harnessed our shared energy and values of equity, inclusion, and access to put structures and processes in place that better evaluate our programs and services.

- We dedicated 45 minutes every week to DEI topics - to both improve office operations and to grow as individuals.
- We developed an events rubric to ensure that we are accountable for offering programming that is inclusive, equitable, and representative of our community.
- We thoroughly researched religious holidays and created a calendar to use as a guide when planning our programs and services.
- Our diversity statement outlines our commitment to this area:

Our Commitment To Building A Welcoming, Equitable, & Inclusive Community

Career Services affirms the Ithaca College Diversity Statement and commits to building and contributing to a campus community that is welcoming, equitable, and inclusive to individuals of all identities. We affirm the need to recognize, analyze, and stand against systems of inequality. Our responsibility as educators is to inspire students to explore and uphold their values, find meaning in them, and encourage forward momentum. We acknowledge that it is also our responsibility as individuals to do this work. We commit to continuously:

- Recognize that career development is unique for every person, especially those who have been impacted by systemic disadvantages, marginalization, and exclusion
- Create a safe space where students can talk freely and openly, without judgement, about their identities and circumstances
- Increase student access to opportunities and resources, which includes educating employers on existing systems and practices that are exclusionary
- Seek out and develop relationships with employers who specifically value diversity and inclusion
- Ensure diverse representation in our programs and events to reflect our community’s intersecting experiences, identities, and abilities
- Ensure all efforts are made to recruit and hire diverse professional and student staff
- Actively and directly hear feedback via this online form from our community, then doing the work necessary to incorporate that feedback within the capacity of our resources
Looking Forward

The Career Services team remains committed to reinvigorating career development at Ithaca College, to leveraging successful strategies that we deployed during the pandemic and to amplifying our presence and partnership within the academic corridors. We remain energized and determined to leverage our creativity in the service of our students and alumni.

EQUITY-CENTERED CAREER DEVELOPMENT

We believe that career and professional development is closely tied to social justice. We continue to meet regularly to explore and discuss equity issues, while evaluating our programs, processes, and data collection to ensure that everything we do is accessible, equity-minded, and inclusive. We care about the career success of every single student and alumnx and recognize there is always work to be done to ensure equity for all.

INCREASED SCOPE & SCALABILITY

With a current staff of 5, and an eventual staff target of 8, the 2022-23 academic year marks the return of staff dedicated to specific academic areas, which builds on our successful career communities model, implemented in 2017. This iteration re-focuses on a school-based model, while recognizing the need for interdisciplinary collaboration across academic areas. While each career services staff member is readily able to serve students and alumni of all disciplines, having staff focused in specific areas will build our expertise, collaborations, and put a specific face to Career Services.

RECRUITING & EMPLOYER RELATIONS

While employment engagement in the form of job and internship postings reached an all-time high of over 132,000 postings in 2021-22, the pandemic and lack of a dedicated employer relations staff member, limited our ability to host in-person career fairs, employer site visits, and other campus recruiting activities. In the spring semester we began to reintroduce some of these elements and students were able to gain insights and make connections through our Meet The Firms collaboration with the School of Business and our New York City Trek. As conditions allow, we intent do build on these successes and re-introduce in-person boutique fair events.
